

Editor's Note

This collection of articles is the second part of the first-ever special issue of the Journal of Social Work in Developing Societies titled Impact on Different Spheres of Life. The articles highlight the lived-experiences of Nigerians during the COVID-19 pandemic as it relates to children, medical students, social life, and the use of face masks. It is hoped that the papers which are included in this second part of the Special Issue will provide our readers (researchers/scholars/scientists/students) first-hand information on how COVID-19 impacted different classes of Nigerians.

I would also like to inform our authors and would-be authors that the Journal of Social Work in Developing Societies has been assigned an ISSN (1115-3946). With this, our journal is on its way to international acceptability. I want to thank our authors and reviewers for their support in bringing out yet another issue of JSWDS and I look forward to their unrelenting support as we roll out our next volume soon.

Uzoma O. Okoye
Editor-in-Chief
Journal of Social Work in Developing Societies